District Deputy Grand Master, Third Masonic District

Brethren of the 3rd Masonic District,

On Saturday, January 17, 2026, I had the honor of being Presented by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania as District Deputy Grand Master of the 3rd Masonic District. The turnout was amazing, with over 200 in attendance and another 70+ watching on livestream. I want to thank everyone who either turned out in-person or watched the livestream. It was truly a humbling experience, and now the work that lies before us begins.

During my comments, I challenged us to become the “Thriving 3rd” District! I believe that all our lodges have the opportunity to thrive if we strive for excellence in all we do. We need to make our lodges the places that our members deserve. That may look different in each lodge, but we need to work toward individually growing in our Masonic journey. We each entered Freemasonry wanting to become “better men.”

There is no magic in that phrase. It is something that should challenge us individually to be the men that our charges call us to be.

January has seen each of our lodges hold their first stated meetings of the year, and from all reports, each was successful. Our first School of Instruction was relegated to Zoom due to the snowstorm. February will be a very busy month, starting with a “special” visit to Cumberland Valley Lodge No. 315 on Thursday, February 5, for a visit by several distinguished brethren from the Thomas Jackson lodge in Brazil. Brother Robert D. Brink, Right Worshipful Grand Master, will be present, and as such, each lodge should make sure at LEAST 3 people are present in regalia to represent your lodge. We also begin our “Official Visits” to present 50, 60, and 70-year service awards. This is always one of my favorite times. I love the stories our brethren share, even if they’ve not been in lodge in a while.

Finally, all our lodges are doing everything we can to better communicate with our members more regularly, but more especially those who are currently delinquent with dues. I ask every member to connect with your lodge secretary and inquire about how you can help in this endeavor. Together, we will thrive!

Sincerely and Fraternally,
Timothy C. Dedman
District Deputy Grand Master
Masonic District 3

From the Desk of Brother Daniel K. Confer, P.M.

Principal, Third Masonic District School of Instruction

Brethren All:

I hope that you and your families enjoyed the holidays. Now that we have begun a new Masonic year, let us pick up our tools and continue our labors.

The schedule for School of Instruction for the year has come together nicely; you will see this schedule in the District Directory. I have decided to focus our attention on the mechanics of the work this year. There are specific areas where the mechanics are critical. Consider the following examples: the Senior Deacon carrying the ballot box, the Officers' movements around the altar in the Entered Apprentice Degree and in the East during the Master Mason Degree. A very experienced Past Master exemplifying the words of a degree he has done several dozen times does not maximize our opportunities for learning when we are together each month in School. We have the Ritual Manual for guidance on the words, after all. I feel strongly about making the highest and best use of our time together, so focusing on mechanics is what I have decided to do. A focus on mechanics will also include exemplifying the grips and signs of each degree and properly showing and explaining the various Working Tools.

Brethren attending the School of Instruction will see some familiar faces as well as some new ones among the Assistant Principals. I am pleased to announce that the team includes Brother Scott S. Fogle, PM, Brother Richard F. Miller, Jr., PM, Brother Edward W. Stenger, PM, Brother Dennis R. McClanahan, PM, and Brother Robert E. Lindsay, Jr., PM, in addition to myself. We are very fortunate to have such experienced Brethren leading our efforts and assisting with geographic coverage of the Blue Lodges in the District. The new Region 2 Instructor is Brother Brett J. Treichler, PM. When Brother Brett has chosen the date of his visit to the District 3 School of Instruction, you will have plenty of notice.

If there is anything that I or the Assistant Principals can do to help you get the most out of your time in School, please let us know. If we need to adjust some things here and there to respond to your feedback, we will do that within due bounds. Among my highest priorities is conducting the School of Instruction in an environment of mutual respect. This is one of my personal core values; what it means to me is that we have the opportunity to learn, to make mistakes, to ask questions, and to make the most productive use of our time together in a respectful and supportive environment. I am learning my new role at the same time you and your Officers are learning your new roles – let us meet as Brethren and hold each other to the high standard for which District 3 is known.

Sincerely & fraternally,
Brother Daniel K. Confer, PM – Principal District 3 SOI

Role of the Lodge Steward

A Masonic Steward is an appointed officer in the Masonic Lodge, typically serving as the entry-level position for new members looking to progress through the “line” of officers. Their primary duties are divided between ceremonial work and hospitality.

Primary Responsibilities

- Hospitality & Dining: Stewards are primarily responsible for the Festive Board (the meal following a meeting). This includes setting tables, serving refreshments, and ensuring the comfort of members and visitors.
- Preparation of Candidates: In many jurisdictions, Stewards assist in preparing candidates for their initiation or degrees.
- Assisting Deacons: They often serve as assistants to the Senior and Junior Deacons during ritual work and degree ceremonies.
- Logistics: They may handle tasks such as selling raffle tickets for charity, collecting dinner fees, or tidying the Lodge after meetings.

Symbolism and Structure

- Jewel of Office: The Steward’s symbol is the Cornucopia (Horn of Plenty), representing abundance and the provision of nourishment.
- Senior vs. Junior: Lodges typically have a Senior Steward and a Junior Steward, and they often carry rods during formal processions.
- Supervision: Stewards usually work under the direction of the Junior Warden, who is traditionally in charge of the Lodge during “refreshment” (non-meeting time).

Greetings from the East,

To all within the district, I first want to thank you for your support and assistance when I needed it most. Your encouragement and guidance gave me the inspiration to continue on this path. To the Brethren of Eureka-West Shore Lodge No. 302, I thank you for entrusting me with an honor that not many are willing to undertake.

I want to begin by saying: WOW! What a month it has been. Our presentation was a great success, featuring an engaging discussion on an ancient martial art during our fellowship meal. Shortly after, we held our January Stated Meeting, which included an official visit from our new District Deputy Grand Master. During that visit, Eureka-West Shore Lodge No. 302 was honored with the Lodge of the Year Award. We extend our sincere gratitude to Brother James C. McElhenie, Jr., P.M., for his significant efforts in helping our Lodge achieve this distinction.

I can attest that the meeting was filled with energy and Masonic pride. In January, we also conferred three degrees: one Entered Apprentice Degree and two Master Mason Degrees. Additionally, on January 17th, we had an informal visit from Right Worshipful Grand Master Brother Robert D. Brink for the presentation of our new District Deputy Grand Master, Brother Timothy C. Dedman. That evening welcomed more than 200 visitors, making it a truly memorable occasion.

We eagerly look forward to seeing what February will bring!
